Even as our program year at the church is approaching an end (I can't say it is winding down yet!), we are continuing to have new beginnings that are very exciting to celebrate.

We have hired a new Music Director, Stuart Duncan, who will begin Sunday, May 12th and will work with the choir the Wednesday evening before. Stuart comes to us with a vast musical experience and is looking forward to developing a breadth of music at St. Peter's that includes the congregation, choir, and praise band in our worship. He is a Yale graduate student and will be continuing to work on his doctorate over the next few years. He is the captain of the Yale Graduate Crew team, and is a resident advisor for the medical students. He is looking forward to developing a ministry at St. Peter's and becoming a part of our parish family.

We will be commissioning Stuart as well as June Williams, our parish administrator, for their ministries at St. Peter's during the 10:00 service on May 19th, Pentecost Sunday. We are grateful for the gifts for ministry they bring to St. Peter's and will be asking the Lord to anoint them with his Holy Spirit to empower them for this work to which they have been called.

It is exciting to me to see the way the Lord's plan for St. Peter's has been unfolding and to experience the restoring, strengthening, healing and moving forward in ministry that has been at work. As the world around us is coming back to life, the Lord is breathing new life into the body of Christ at St. Peter's. It has been a long, hard winter and the return of the sun and warmth is a reminder of the hope we have as we walk in the light of Christ. He moves us forward into new life; he gives us the strength to endure hardships and challenges, and lifts us up above our circumstances into the knowledge of our life in him. In Christ we have a future and a hope and it is already unfolding with promise, already exciting to see his hand at work. The work of the Holy Spirit among the people of St. Peter's is bearing fruit in so many wonderful ways. Come and celebrate the Lord with us as we rejoice in his presence and the new life we have in him. The Lord is risen! He is risen indeed! Alleluia!

the Rev. Cynthia Knapp

Food Bank Donations

St. Peter's continues its weekly collection for the Milford Food Bank at the Milford Senior Center. There is always a need for staples such as cereals, pasta, and peanut butter and jelly. Those items would be especially welcomed. Please place all food donations in the basket located in the Narthex of the church.

Altar Flowers

Flowers are a wonderful way to mark an event or a life, and help to support the ministry of St. Peter's parish. Flowers may be given in memory of a loved one, celebration of birthdays, anniversaries, graduations, births or any occasion that you would like to celebrate. The suggested offering is $25 to cover the cost of the flowers, but any donation is accepted. If you are interested, please contact the Church office.

Coffee Hour

Caring for our Community - Coffee hour is a ministry by and for those who attend worship on Sunday mornings. Coffee hour is only possible through volunteers and donations. St. Peter's supplies the coffee. You may choose to host on your own, or as a group. It is a great way to meet new parishioners and share in fellowship. Ask someone who has not hosted before to join you! There is a sign-up sheet on the bulletin board in the Parish Hall.

Parishioner and interim musician, Paul Thoma, a member of the New Haven Chorale, invites everyone from the St. Peter's family to attend this special event. If you have not been to Woolsey Hall, it is an impressive facility. The music and multimedia presentation will be spectacular and definitely worth your time. A free preconcert panel discussion featuring Christian, Jewish and Islamic leaders will be held at a nearby location. Concert tickets are $20, adults; $15 seniors; and free for students with ID. They can be purchased at the door, at www.newhavenchorale.org or from Paul Thoma.

Understanding

Many of us interact with people of different faiths on a daily basis. Recent horrific events in the greater Boston area remind us that one of the most compelling issues of our time is how to live peaceably in a multicultural society -- locally and globally -- with people of other faiths. One very important and necessary approach to this issue is to explore shared values that exist among different traditions.

On Sunday, May 5, at 4:30 pm, the New Haven Chorale will combine with the choruses and Wind Ensemble of the Hartt School to use music as a force to highlight the rich common ground among Christian, Jewish, and Islamic traditions. Approximately 300 performers will present this special multi-media performance entitled, "Understanding," in New Haven's Woolsey Hall, 500 College St., corner of Grove St. (eleven miles from St. Peter's Church), featuring:

- The northeast premiere of Yale composer Christopher Theofanidis' The Here and Now, a powerful setting of words by the 13th century Sufi mystic known as Rumi

with the choruses of The Hartt School Edward Bokkova, Music Director, and The Hartt School Wind Ensemble, Glen Axel, Director, present

NEW HAVEN CHORALE

This essay from the spring of 2007 still applies. No hummers spotted yet in our garden, but the migration map says they've reached New Jersey and the feeders are out.

WHAT I LEARNED FROM LONGING - from the eMo Archives

Is Ethel Merman back yet? someone emails. I write back that she's on her way. Someone in North Carolina writes that she saw Ethel in her back yard, and someone else in Maryland says that she gave Ethel a snack for the road. So, yes, Ethel Merman is on her way back here.

That's Ethel Merman the Ruby-Throated Hummingbird who has spent the last two summers in our garden. Not Ethel Merman the singer and actress, who will remain on Broadway forever, having directed that her ashes be sprinkled there after she died.

I dreamed of Ethel the hummingbird last night -- an encouraging sign, I think, since I dreamed of her last year shortly before her return and dreamt of her many times in the years I spent waiting for her to come. She must be sending me telepathic bulletins as she flies.

Four years I waited to welcome a hummingbird, planting the kinds of flowers they like, faithfully putting out feeders filled with sugar water, cleaning and changing them every few days, with nary a hummer in sight. I learned a few things about life while I was waiting:

1. Wishing for something doesn't bring it into your life. You also have to prepare for it.
2. Preparing for it isn't magic, either. It can take a while; few qualities are more important than patience in getting what you long for. But at least you know you're ready for it when it does come.
3. You might not get what you long for. We resist even the thought of this at first, but we must learn to entertain the possibility without panic. So you have to become a person who can be joyful without it, even though you want it very much. A person who can rejoice in the simple fact of its existence, even if you never possess it. I came to feel that I was caring for all hummingbirds by preparing for one so carefully for so long. I knew that I had made a good place for them, that I was there for them if they chose to make use of me, and that become enough for me.
4. Everything is a gift. My longing for a hummingbird never caused me to disdain the wonderful birds who already visited our garden. All birds are miraculous. Everybody is miraculous. That we encounter one another at all, any of us, is a tremendous honor.
